

Are you getting Full Value from your Investment in Oracle?

Percipient Process Workshops

The Issue

Many system implementations suffer from the same problem. You invest heavily in an implementation of the system, you may even have upgraded to take advantage of the latest release, but do you ever revisit your existing processes to see if they are still the best?

Change – The only constant

Even if your system was the best optimal design for your business when you went live, it's likely that changes in your business, your competitive environment or even your users may mean it's no longer the optimal.

How we can help?

Allow us to use our experience in developing solutions with businesses to identify opportunities for you to:

- Modify processes
- Take advantage of features you may not know about
- Evaluate new modules of Oracle

What does it involve?

For a nominal fee, an experienced business consultant will spend a couple of days with you to review your processes, analyse where you could be gaining advantage, following which a report will be provided. There are no obligations, and no commitment to commission us to deliver these changes.
